LOTHIAN, BRITAIN'S EMISSARY FOR U. S. AID, DIES

Ambassador Ill Only Few Days

Death Comes As Shock To Washington And British Embassy; Last Message Plea For More American War Assistance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The Marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States and his nation's leading spokesman in seeking American aid, died in Washington today.

The 58-year-old Lothian had been ill only three days. Death was attributed to uremic poisoning.

Death came at 3 a. m., but announcement was not made until nearly six hours later, the delay being incurred because international custom required that President Roosevelt, now cruising in the Caribbean, first be notified.

The State Department issued the following statement for the embassy:

"The British embassy regrets to have to announce that the Marquess of Lothian died early this morning.

"Lord Lothian was taken ill on Sunday night. Although his condition improved Monday and Tuesday, he suffered a relapse last night.

"The cause of death was uremic infection."

Lothian had been forced to cancel a speaking appearance in Baltimore last night, but his speech—a forthright plea that U. S. naval convoys be provided for merchantmen carrying supplies to England—was read by Neville Butler, counselor to the embassy.

Popular In Washington

A square-jawed, amiable man with democratic manners that belied his title, Lothian was an extremely popular figure in Washington—with officialdom, society and the press alike.

He was a constant caller at the White House and was a favorite of President Roosevelt.

Lothian became British ambassador to the United States in August 1939, only a month before the outbreak of the war. He succeeded Sir Ronald Lindsay.

His death immediately raised a delicate problem of state for this government.

A long-standing custom calls for the United States to supply a battleship to return the body of a dead ambassador to his native land.

At the State Department, an official said that consideration would have to be given to the fact Britain is now at war, but it was pointed out that when Hiroshi Satō, Japanese ambassador to the United States, died two years ago, this nation provided a battleship to transport his body back to the Land of the Rising Sun despite the fact that Japan was then already engaged in its war with China.

Japan however was engaging in an undeclared war, Britain in a declared one. Indications in government circles were that this technicality probably would not stand in the path of the United States.

Lord Lothian passed away at 9 a. m., British time (3 a. m. Circleville time), at the British embassy in Washington.

News of Lord Lothian's sudden death, at the moment when London newspapers prominently displayed his speech at Baltimore virtually placing Britain's fate in American hands, came as a terrific shock.

Officials termed his death a "grievous loss," particularly at the present time.

PARKING BAN LIFTED TO ASSIST SHOPPERS

With approval of City Council, Mayor William Cady and Police Chief William McCrady, Thursday, lifted the ban on downtown parking for the remainder of the holiday season.

The move was taken to provide Christmas shoppers with parking space, the mayor said. He warned, however, that unless downtown merchants and their employees keep their cars off the streets, the parking rules again will be put in effect.

Duke's Name Mentioned In London Circles; Others Liked

LONDON, Dec. 12—The Duke of Windsor, now a visitor in Miami, Fla., was mentioned as a possible successor to the Marquess of Lothian as British ambassador to the United States today as London grieved over the sudden death of Britain's envoy to Washington.

Diplomatic circles were flooded with suggestions. In addition to the Duke of Windsor, Lord Beaverbrook, newspaper publisher and now minister for aviation production in the war cabinet, was mentioned. Some commentators favored Anthony Eden, war minister; Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, former Premier David Lloyd George and Sir Robert Van Sittart, permanent under-secretary for foreign affairs.

The choice of a new ambassador obviously is limited and provides Prime Minister Winston Churchill with a difficult problem, as the new envoy must not only

FARMERS TO GET $400,000 UNDER AAA CROP PLAN

Final payment of agricultural conservation program checks will bring approximately $400,000 to 1,400 farmers in the county, according to County AAA Chairman John Boggs, Thursday, as an additional 630 applications for final A. C. P. payments were being prepared for approval and payment.

Approximately $123,244 to 768 farmers in the county has already been distributed, the county chairman pointed out, and with additional applications received, the total 1940 figure should reach $400,000. Payment on the last applications is expected to be made early next month.

The amount each farmer receives, providing he has remained within his allotment, in which case he will receive a premium of 10 cents a bushel on corn and nine cents a bushel on wheat, depends on his allotment times his crop appraisal. Checks range from $10 to $800.

The penalty for exceeding the allotment is 50 cents an acre for both corn and wheat.

OHIO MAN WHO FAILED TO REGISTER ARRESTED

MARIETTA, Dec. 12—The first arrest in this section for failing to register for the draft was made today.

Wesley Arnold Smith, 26, who lives in a trailer with his wife and child, was held in jail awaiting disposition of his case by the draft board. Smith said he did not register because previous attempts to get into the army failed because of his criminal record.

DAMAGE NOT SO GREAT

Metropolis Has Two Alarms, But Defenders Drive Off Attacking Craft

LONDON, Dec. 12—Two new but brief air raid alarms—404th and 405th of the war—sounded in London today as Nazi raiders resumed their attacks on the capital after pounding the industrial midlands city of Birmingham during the night.

Casualties appeared heavier than at first reported.

This afternoon rescue parties were still digging dead and injured from the wreckage of homes

LONDON, Dec. 12—British bombers carried out attacks on western Germany and Nazi-held territory during the night, the Air Ministry announced today. The objectives included "invasion" channel ports, several airdromes, power stations, inland docks, and railway yards, the communique reported. One plane failed to return.

and other destroyed and damaged buildings.

Six churches, 11 schools and two motion picture theatres were hit directly by bombs and many fires were started.

Five residents were killed when a public shelter suffered a direct hit.

The first alarm was given when about 20 raiders approached the London area. British fighters quickly engaged the German craft and chased them away in a series of air combats. Some bombs were dropped.

Official announcements regarding the Birmingham attack indicated the German planes had inflicted a "certain amount of damage" and started a number of fires.

London also was bombed during the night, but the midlands city—Birmingham—bore the brunt of the Nazi air attack.

Latest reports, however, indicated that damage and casualties in London were slight and that up to 10 a. m. less than a score of dead had been found in the debris of wrecked workmen's cottages in midlands.

DUKE UNDERGOES PHYSICAL TEST, ALSO, IN MIAMI

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 12—Not unlike a couple on their honeymoon, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were secluded today in palm-shaded St. Francis Hospital where the duchess had an infected tooth pulled and his royal highness underwent a physical examination which showed he is in tip-top condition.

The doctors' report on the duchess is that she is recuperating steadily after a rather serious operation. It will be at least forty-eight hours before they know, for sure, whether there will be any complications, but none is expected. That makes the man who gave up the British throne for "the woman I love" very happy.

He was like a boy when he slipped out of the hospital, only to return with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses for her.

Dutch Grab Nazi Ship, Admit Assisting Britain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—The German freighter Rhein, which left Tampico, Mexico, last week in an attempt to run the British blockade, has been captured by the Dutch destroyer Van Kinsbergen, the Navy Department disclosed today.

The 6,031-ton Nazi merchantman was captured off the southern coast of Cuba, in the vicinity of the scuttling of her sister ship, the Idarwald, when halted by a British cruiser Monday, the department said.

The crew also attempted to scuttle the Rhein when it was approached by the Dutch ship, but failed, according to the department. Another Nazi ship, the Phrygia, was previously scuttled when it was intercepted by warships in a dash from the Mexican port.

The department's brief announcement stated:

"The German steamship Rhein is in possession of the Dutch destroyer Von Kinsbergen off the coast of Cuba. The German crew attempted to scuttle the Rhein before abandoning her."

The Rhein and the Idarwald left Tampico last week with cargoes of freight for Germany. The Idarwald was stopped by the British cruiser Diomed, and was scuttled by the German crew.

A fourth vessel, the Orinoco, is still anchored at Tampico. The Orinoco recently tried to run the blockade, but returned to port with engine trouble.

Announcement of the Rhein's capture by the Von Kinsbergen is the first public disclosure that Dutch vessels are operating with the British in the Western Hemisphere.

Dutch legation officials admitted that other boats of the Netherlands navy are working with the British in the Caribbean in the vicinity of the Dutch-owned islands of Aruba, Curacao and Bonaire.

The funeral will be Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, the Rev. Ross Wilhide officiating. The body will be at the C. E. Hill Funeral Home, Williamsport, until Saturday at 8 a. m.

Mr. Woodmansee was born in New Antioch, Clinton County, January 6, 1866, a son of Joseph and Sarah Moore Woodmansee. He married Dora Hornbeck Dick in 1932, his widow surviving. Also surviving is a son by a former marriage, Forrest Woodmansee, mayor of Greenfield.

Mr. Woodmansee had spent most of his life in the Clinton and Highland County communities. He removed from Sabina to Greenfield in 1903 and for some years operated an ice cream company which the son now operates.

Mr. Woodmansee had spent much of his life in telegraphing. He was operator and telegrapher for the Baltimore and Ohio in Derby, Sabina and Wilmington for 20 years, and served for four years as dispatcher for the Big Four in Columbus.

He was postmaster at Sabina for eight years before removing to Greenfield.

Violently Resisting Army Of Il Duce's Driven Back, Athens Declares

ATHENS, Dec. 12—Greek troops pushed forward on three different sectors of the Albanian Front today after hammering back Italian forces who put up "violent resistance."

The high command communique, announcing the continued Greek drive, added that "some prisoners and booty fell into our hands."

Latest military advices received in Athens stated that the Greek advance was continuing according to plan and that the Italians had been forced to retreat northward from the Argirocastro and coastal areas to the hills surrounding Chimarra.

In the Premeti region, it was claimed, all Fascist resistance broke down and Greek troops occupied hills of "great strategic value," according to the Athens radio.

FASCIST EDITOR RAPS BADOGLIO FOR GREEK LOSS

ROME, Dec. 12—A bitter attack on Marshal Pietro Badoglio, former chief of staff of the Italian armed forces, was voiced today by Roberto Farinacci, editor of the newspaper Regime Fascista and chief spokesman for the Fascist Party.

In a brief but pungent editorial, Farinacci accused Badoglio of failing to prepare properly for the Italian campaign against Greece and of "attempting to shift responsibility by lies."

Badoglio was removed from office last week and replaced by General Ugo Cavallero, a little-known expert in mechanized warfare.

At the time of his retirement, an official announcement said that Badoglio had been relieved of responsibility at his own request.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 12—An investigation into the death of Arthur Ibold, Cincinnati cigar manufacturer, was under way today under the direction of Dr. Frank M. Coppock, Jr., Hamilton County coroner. Ibold was killed when he plunged to his death from a second story window in his Cincinnati home.

Members of the family told Coppock that they believed Ibold lost his balance as he was opening the window. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Sidi Barrani Falls Before Attackers; Italian Lines Of Communication Cut

DIVISIONS BOTTLED UP

Death Of General Maletti Cited By Empire As One Of Vital Importance

CAIRO, Dec. 12—With their lines of communications cut, harassed by the Royal Air Force and bombarded by the British navy, Italian forces west of captured Sidi Barrani are now staging a "general retreat," according to advices received in Cairo late today.

More than 20,000 Italian and native troops have been captured by the British in the four-day campaign, according to the latest official estimate.

Reconnaissance flights by RAF planes indicate that the Italians are now withdrawing from their bitterly contested bases in eastern Egypt with all possible speed, military information said.

News of the British advance reached Cairo coincident with disclosure that two full Italian divisions, possibly totalling 34,000 men, have been bottled up in the Sidi Barrani zone by Britain's swiftly advancing forces.

Big Obstacle Overcome

Death of General Pietro Maletti, a veteran of fighting in Libya and Somaliland, almost at the outset of Britain's drive for Sidi Barrani was hailed in Cairo as indication that British forces had overcome one of their chief obstacles of dominance in the desert.

Maletti was in command of a "flying" armored column especially equipped for desert fighting. His regiment had considerable nuisance value and was regarded as a potential threat to the British southern flank.

This threat has now been eliminated with the commander's death, military officials said.

Britain's latest advances were aided by huge quantities of war materials seized as the Italians fled Sidi Barrani.

The latest British triumph sent surviving Italians rushing backward toward Libya in a confused withdrawal, continually pounded by the mechanized British North African army.

Three Generals Captured

Large numbers of Italians, however, were unable to participate even in the retreat. Unofficial estimates in Cairo said between 10,000 and 20,000 Italian troops, including three generals and officers of virtually all ranks, were seized along with large stocks of war equipment when the British occupied the important seaport.

(Editor's Note: In London it was stated authoritatively that the three captured Italian generals have been identified as Gen. Sebastiano Gallina, a corps commander, Gen. Amando Pescatore

Hughes Urges Red Cross
To Be Cautious About
Its Assistance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 — The British refusal to permit shipments of food to German-occupied nations in Europe will not be challenged by the American government, it was indicated today in official quarters.

Secretary of State Hull, in commenting on British Ambassador Lord Lothian's declaration that no food will be permitted to enter countries under German domination, suggested that private relief agencies might approach the Nazi government to determine its attitude toward assisting in civilian relief activities.

A spokesman for the German embassy promised that the Reich government would give sympathetic consideration to any plan submitted.

Although Hull still left the door open to the possibility of American government action, officials doubt if the European food blockade will be permitted to become an issue between the United States and Great Britain.

Chief Justice Hughes of the supreme court, in one of his rare public utterances, sounded a note of caution to the Red Cross yesterday. He remarked that on the question of relief to Europe, nothing should be done that runs counter to prevailing American sentiment.

Used by Germany

Many officials side with the position of the British government that no scheme of food distribution in dominated areas has been devised that guarantees such supplies will not be utilized by Germany.

Hull emphasized that the United States is always sympathetic to nations undergoing privation and suffering. He said that some of the groups interested in civilian welfare might approach the German government to see what contribution the Nazis would be disposed to make. One of the American relief groups is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. Meanwhile, the State Department received first hand accounts of conditions in France and Finland, accompanied by pleas for immediate aid.

Conditions Acute

French Ambassador Henri-Haye called on Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and reported that conditions in the French free zone are becoming more acute. He expressed hope that the British will not prohibit the shipment of milk and dairy products to the unoccupied portions of France. Most of the agricultural sections are in the occupied areas.

Bad harvests, the British blockade and a depleted treasury are causing severe hardship to Finland, according to Finnish Minister Hjalmar Procopé. He said his nation badly needs agricultural products to help feed civilians during the next eight months. During a similar food crisis in Finland in 1919, nearly $8,000,000 worth of foodstuffs was sent there.

BRICKER FIGHTS AGAINST USE OF RELIEF FOR VOTE

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 12 — Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio today had served notice that he would continue his campaign against what he termed the use of certain forms of relief for political purposes.

Addressing the 29th annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association, Bricker rapped at the asserted padding of WPA payrolls at election times, and asserted that surplus food distribution, under New Deal auspices, "was operated for much the same reasons and by similar methods." Both agencies, he contended, were intended as "job-getting bait."

The Ohio chief executive declared that the foundations of freedom and enterprise are being undermined and threatened by the present tendencies to centralize the government and expand bureaucratic controls and regulations.

"If the trend continues," he said, "a day possibly may be coming when even common law, through which all good things have come to the people, may be stifled by bureaucracy."

Bricker declared that, as a result of the people of Ohio as well as those of other states looking to Washington for certain types of relief, fundamentals are being changed to a new and strange way of life in America.

The more the federal government takes over control, he said, the less authority there is left to the local government and the less freedom there is remaining for the individual.

He urged strongly the divorcing of all forms of relief from politics, so that there could be no "sordid motives" attributed to government aid to unfortunates.

GREEKS FROM CRETE USE BIG KNIVES ON ITALIANS

LONDON, Dec. 12 — Troops from the Island of Crete "who use long knives" have been in action against the "retreating Italians" in Greece, the London Daily Telegraph said today.

"After the bayonets of the Evzones, the knives of the Cretans have become a new terror for the Italians."

BIG BOY SCOUT SERVICE TO BE STAGED SUNDAY

Youngsters From All Central Ohio Area To Be Given Honor Degrees

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

Memorial Hall, Columbus, To Be Scene Of Ceremony At 2 O'clock

Circleville and Pickaway County Scouts will be included among those from all parts of central Ohio who will be honored Sunday afternoon, December 15, for their Scouting achievements at the fifth annual Council-wide Eagle Scout Court of Honor Ceremonial at Memorial Hall, Columbus. Beginning at 2 p. m., an elaborate program, to which the public is invited, will be climaxed with the creation of Eagle Scouts.

A half-hour band concert by the Franklin Post No. 1, American Legion Band, under the direction of Alphonse Cincione, will open the program. Members of the Katinonkwat Lodge, Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of Boy Scout honor campers, will conduct the opening color ceremony, after which will be the processional of nearly 80 candidates for the high rank of Eagle Scout, accompanied by their mothers. Special music will be provided.

In charge of the proceedings will be Paul L. Selby, chairman of the committee on Scout Advancement. The Court of Honor, sitting in formal attire on the platform, will be composed of members of the Executive Board of the Central Ohio Area Council and other citizens, representative of their various communities.

Scoutmasters and mothers will participate in the impressive ceremony honoring the new Eagle Scouts. This will be followed by a colored sound movie entitled "The Scouting Trail To Citizenship". Scouts advancing in lesser ranks will be recognized for their achievements and the usual quarterly District Court of Honor Ceremonies will not be held at this time.

Parents and friends, as well as fellow troop members of the outstanding Scouts, will attend the ceremonial to witness the presentations of Scoutings' highest recognition. Last week all candidates participated in an intensive review by members of the Court of Honor Committee at Ohio State University. They were thoroughly checked in Life Saving, Camping, and First Aid and interviewed by at least three men who discussed with each candidate his fitness for the honored award. Recommendations indorsing the candidate were submitted by Scoutmasters, Troop Committee Chairmen, parents, school principals and pastors.

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

ABOLISHING THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts proposes to abolish the Electoral College. This, of course, can be done only by constitutional amendment, to propose which would require a two-thirds vote in each House of Congress, and a ratification by at least 36 States, or three-fourths, of the 48.

If Senator Lodge proposes a simple and complete abolition of the Electoral College he might as well save his breath. He will never receive the necessary majorities, either in Congress or among the States. For the present provision gives to the less populous states an advantage in the election of a President and a prestige in government which they will never give up.

Each State in the Electoral College has as many votes as the total of its Senators and Congressmen. If a state has two Senators and Congressmen, it has three electoral votes.

PETTENGILL There are six States with three votes—Arizona, Delaware, Nevada, New Mexico, Vermont, and Wyoming. There are seven with only four votes each—Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Rhode Island.

These thirteen States could alone defeat a constitutional amendment, to say nothing of the States with only five, six or seven electoral votes.

Nevada, for example, has 3 votes out of 531, New York has 47 votes. But in 1936, Nevada cast only 43,848 popular votes for President, whereas New York cast 5,286,495 out of a grand total of 45,646,817.

In other words Nevada had one electoral vote for each 14,616 popular votes cast in that State, while New York had one electoral vote for each 112,478 popular votes. Each Nevada voter, therefore, was equal to eight New Yorkers in electing a President. This gives Nevada a place of importance in Washington for out of proportion to her population which she cashes in on by way of silver legislation and other benefits.

This all comes about by reason of the "great compromise" of the Constitutional Convention of 1787 under which each State was given an equal number of United States Senators. And as her number of Senators gives Nevada two out of three electoral votes she and the other smaller States enjoy an advantage which they would never give up by adopting a constitutional amendment whereby the President would be elected by direct vote of all the people.

The compromise, in pure theory, is objectionable, but we would never have had a Constitution without it. And better an imperfect Constitution than perfect chaos.

If anything is done about the Electoral College, it should be along the lines proposed by Representative Clarence Lea of California. Mr. Lea, one of the dozen best students of government on Capitol Hill, does not propose to abolish the electoral votes. He knows that is impossible. He proposes to preserve the present system which would retain to each State its present number of electoral votes. But with it he would give expression to the view that each individual voter in each State should have a real voice in electing his President.

Under existing law, the party candidate receiving a majority of one popular vote out of New York's 5 million gets all of New York's 47 votes. And the same in all other States. The minority in each State is practically disfranchised.

To illustrate, a State has 10 electoral votes, and casts 1,000,000 popular votes, 600,000 Republican, let us say, and 400,000 Democratic. As it is, the Republican candidate gets all 10 of the electoral votes. The 400,000 Democrats, in effect, are counted for the Republican candidate. Congressman Lea would pro rate the 10 electoral votes in proportion to the popular vote, or, in this case, 6 Republican and 4 Democratic.

This plan would enfranchise all minority parties in all States. It would be worth while to conduct a campaign in every State, whether Mississippi or Vermont. It would quicken interest in government throughout the Union. There would be no "solid" Republican or Democratic territory anywhere. It would be impossible for anyone to be elected President who had less popular votes than another candidate, as has three times happened, — a dangerous situation loaded with dynamite. It would be impossible, as under existing law, to throw the election of a President into the House of Representatives, as happened in 1810 and 1824. Mr. Lea's proposal is worthy of serious study.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. SALE OF STAMPS SHOWS BOOST IN HOLIDAY BUYING

Pickaway County's Report For November's Last Week Is High

$1,000 GAIN IS NOTED

Several Central Ohio Areas Fall Under 1939; State Files Report

As holiday buying in the district surges to new heights, revenue from sales tax stamps is increasing proportionately, reports revealed by the Ohio treasurer's office.

For the week ending November 30, just as the holiday buying started to pick up, sales tax receipts in Pickaway County amounted to $2,305.43, compared with $1,359.45 for the same week a year ago. The week's jump put the year's total up to a $76,390.24 mark, compared with last year's $75,052.24.

Some counties in Central Ohio noted the same increase, the extent of the gain varying in some districts, while others reported losses.

Fairfield reported receipts of $5,665.81 in 1940 and $4,957.70 in 1939; Payette, $2,596.42 in 1940 and $2,178.50; Hocking, $1,457.77 in 1940 and $1,297.80; Madison, $1,728.64 in 1940, a loss from 1939's report of $1,775.95; Perry, $1,304.11, also a drop from $1,961.21 of a year ago; Ross, $5,337.83 in 1940, somewhat under 1939's $5,732.36.

The treasurer in his latest report shows that department stores, drug stores, clothing merchants and jewelers have been purchasing stamps in larger amounts than they did last year.

Up to November 30 retailers of men's clothing had bought $326,- 439.00 of tax stamps, while for the same length of time last year the sum stood at $855,698.00. Department stores have purchased $5,034,956.00 of stamps to-date, as compared to $4,972,704.05 in 1939. Other businesses, which carry large stocks of Christmas goods, and which show a gain to-date are: variety stores, which have bought stamps in the amount of $1,593,647.00, as contrasted with purchases of one year ago of $1,566,435.00; drug stores' contributions now total $1,524,817.00 against $1,512,511.00 last year.

Another outstanding industry showing a large gain is that of the jewelry-leather classification, which has used $516,522.00 worth of stamps, while in 1939 the total was $455,840.00 to-date.

These large payments have helped to swell collections 12.3% above last year. To-date the amount stands at $46,386,252.42, while last year the total was $41,298,126.68. Revenue for the week was $1,164,291.77, or 11.7% greater than the $1,042,185.37 recorded last year.

NAVAL RESERVE CALLED FOR DESTROYER DUTIES

COLUMBUS, Dec. 12—The Seventh division of the Organized Naval Reserve today prepared to leave Monday night or Tuesday for San Francisco, where the division will board the U. S. Destroyer Kane for active sea duty.

The Central Ohio and contingent of 80 men and four officers is the first of three Ohio divisions called for duty under the national defense program. Shortly after the first of the year, the Third Division, Cleveland, will go aboard the U. S. Destroyer Lawrence, and the Fourth Division, Toledo, will go aboard the U. S. S. Humphreys.

MOTHER OF ROMANIA'S KING GOES TO GERMANY

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—Queen Mother Helen of Romania, estranged wife of ex-King Carol, has left Florence, Italy, for Germany, the German radio said today in a broadcast picked up by CBS in New York.

The queen returned to Romania following the abdication of Carol and the accession of her son, Michael, to the throne, but departed shortly afterward. At that time it was reported she had engaged in a number of controversies with Premier Ion Antonescu.

Manager Adolf isn't doing so well in the present signing-up of his players for next year's fighting.

KING ZOG IN TURKEY TO FORM ARMED FORCE

BUDAPEST, Dec. 12—Exiled King Zog of Albania has arrived in Turkey to organize an Albanian army to fight alongside the Greeks against the Italians, report reaching Budapest from Istanbul said today.

Zog and his beautiful half-American wife, the former countess Geraldine Apponyi of Hungary, and their infant son, fled from Albania in April, 1939, when Premier Mussolini set up an Italian "protectorate."

The agitation for a national holiday honoring the Indian seems to have evaporated. Maybe the pale face pals are waiting until the Vanishing American has really vanished.

END OF STRIKE AT CINCINNATI EXPECTED SOON

CINCINNATI, Dec. 12—The jurisdictional strike of 300 employees of the Cincinnati, Newport and Covington Railway Company, which has left a half-dozen northwestern Kentucky communities without public transportation since Sunday, should be settled within two or three days at the most, Philip G. Phillips, National Labor Board representative declared today.

"Phillips asserted that he had a plan for settlement which he was certain would iron out all difficulties. Ellsworth C. Bundy, A. F. of L. organizer and representative of the strikers, added:

"We believe we have found a formula that is the one we have been seeking, and that it is the one that will be accepted by all." Bundy refused to say what the formula was, but indicated that it might center around a proposal that the CNCR absorb entirely the Dixie Traction Company, now a CNCR subsidiary around which the strike revolves.

The unionists, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, struck because the CNCR assertedly refused to declare a closed shop in the Dixie line. Dixie employees are now represented by another union.

It was estimated that the cessation of service between Cincinnati and the Kentucky towns resulted in a 45 percent drop in the retail business Cincinnati stores do with the strike-bound buyers. The 45 percent drop represents about 10 percent of the stores' total business.

GET EVEN BREAK
NEW YORK—Small businesses are getting an even break with larger companies in the matter of government armament orders, according to the Research Institute of America, which reports that half of the allocated list for wartime production have less than 100 employees.

INSPECTION TO DECIDE ABOUT MINE REOPENING

CADIZ, Dec. 12—An inspection to determine if the nearby Nels coal mine, scene of the Nov. 29 gas explosion which claimed the lives of 31 men, was safe to reopen was to be made today by Marcus Kerr, chief of the Ohio division of mines.

Inspector John W. Harris asserted at the public inquiry into the cause of the blast that the ventilation system of the mine was unsatisfactory, but amended his statement to the extent that if section 12, scene of the explosion, were sealed, it would be safe to open the rest of the mine.

He also testified that he had ordered the installation of a second ventilating shaft prior to the blast, but that apparently nothing had been done. He blamed "lack of teeth" in the Ohio law, which does not give inspectors the right to close a mine if they find conditions which they deem unsafe, or to examine machinery to determine if it is faulty.

"We are continually rebuffed by an inadequate law," he said.

Federal Engineer C. W. Owings has testified that his investigations indicated an electric arc or a spark from a drill probably set off the accumulated methane gas.

Our troubles in this country just now are mostly bottle-necks and Old Man Weather.

ETON COLLEGE BLASTED BY GERMANY'S RAIDERS

LONDON, Dec. 12—Eton College, famous English boy's school which for centuries has catered to the upper crust aristocracy, was bombed by German planes during a recent raid, British authorities disclosed today.

The school is situated in the small town of Eton, just across the Windsor Bridge from the town of Windsor, famous for the castle which has been a residence of British sovereigns for more than 850 years.

NO COMMUNISTS' NAMES WRITTEN ON BALLOTS

Following instructions received from George Neffner, secretary of State, asking that poll books be checked to determine the number of Communist candidates written on the ballots in the November election, Claude Kraft, clerk of the county board of elections, announced Thursday that all the poll books in the county had been checked, and the names of no such candidates were found.

81 WORKERS NOMINATED
Sardinia, O., Employee Rates
Highest Honor; Condition
Finest In History

The condition of Norfolk and Western Railway track during 1940 was the highest in the history of the railroad, it was announced Thursday, following the annual inspection and award of cash prizes to 81 section foremen in charge of best maintained tracks.

The 1940 system-wide average was 9.38, a gain of three points over the 1939 rating, and an improvement of 12 points over the last six years. A 9.50 rating is the highest that can be given.

This year the railroad awarded 21 first prizes, 24 second and 18 third and fourth prizes.

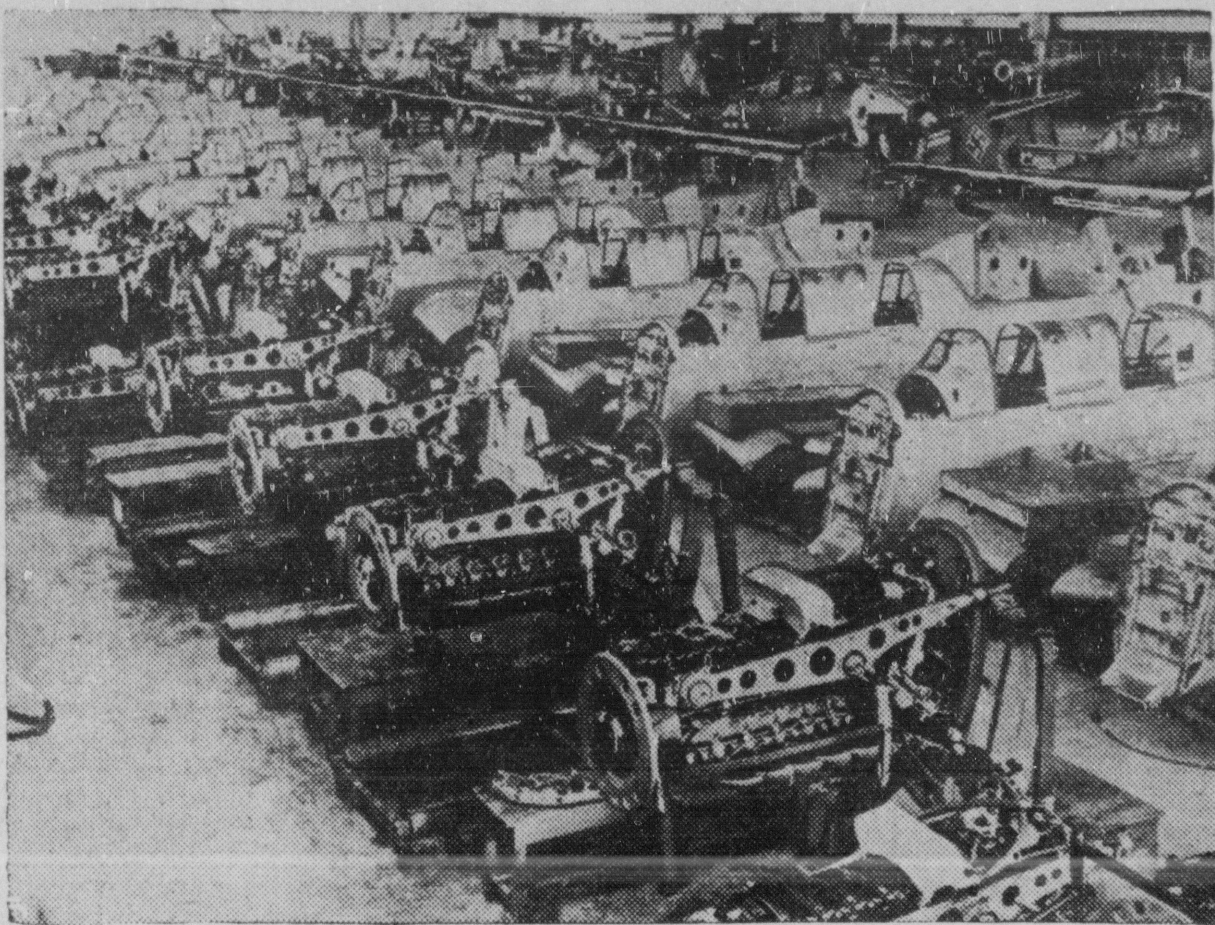

Section foreman Ernal McCann, of Sardinia, Ohio, chalked up the highest individual rating on the system, with a perfect mark of 9.50, which has been given only once within the last 35 years. Charles Felty, of Neal, W. Va., received this rating in 1925. Mr. McCann has been a consistent prize-winner during the past few years, with a record of 9.48 for 1938 and 1939 and 9.49 for 1936.

Scioto Division Best
The Scioto Division was awarded first place among the five divisions with a rating of 9.43, while Roanoke Terminal took top honors among the terminals with a grade of 9.41. The greatest division improvement was made by the Pocahontas Division, which jumped from a rating of 9.35 to 9.40. Norfolk Terminal made the greatest terminal improvement—from a 9.33 rating last year, to a 1940 rating of 9.39.

W. V. Crosby, of Lockbourne, was awarded the second highest individual rating, with a mark of 9.49. For third, with 9.48 ratings, were: Charles Felty, Neal, W. Va.; J. H. Valentine, Franklin Furnace, Ohio; A. B. Campbell, Duval, O.; E. W. Leatherwood, Ashville, O.; D. R. Burnett, Otway, O.; W. M. Catron, Crockett, Va.; and F. P. Combs, of Rural Retreat, Va.

A fourth prize award was made to M. H. Allen of Circleville. Greatest improvement in indi-

CHAUFFEUR-BUTLER FACES
CHARGES AFTER GRILLING

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 12—Speedy prosecution today faced John Spell, 31, a mild-appearing Negro, who cracked after 16 hours of grilling and signed a confession substantially confirming, according to police, the story of a night of horror told by socially prominent Mrs. John K. Strubing, 32, in whose home he was employed as chauffeur-butler.

His alibi broken, Spell confessed to making Mrs. Strubing a prisoner in her own home as she emerged from a shower bath, criminally assaulting her four times and then attempting to drown her in Kensto reservoir over the New York state line.

MANY PRIVATE POSITIONS
GAINED FOR OHIO WORKERS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 12—Employment in private industry was found for 41,511 more workers in the first eleven months of 1940 than in the same period of 1939, Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports revealed today.

Private job placements by the bureau's employment division totaled 158,010 for the period ending November 30 as compared with 116,499 last year.

Bureau officials said rising employment opportunities and increased industrial activity accounted for the worker-placements.

Some folks still can't believe

GOING over Buick dealers' reports on our 1941 models, we find an unusual thing happening.

Time and again cars come in for the usual inspections with an extra note of instructions—"Please check the gas gauge needle."

Even after hundreds of miles, people mistrust their eyes when they see its snail-like pace from the Full mark toward Empty—they don't see how it's possible for a car as big as Buick to go so far on so little.

But it does—and for good reasons.

The whole FIREBALL engine was designed and built to get the most good out of modern gasolines.

And the simple secret of Compound Carburetion is that it keeps your engine running on its most frugal diet for all normal driving—and provides full feed only when you need, want and call for the lift of extra wallop.

Meantime even the gears are helping save money—for the regular high gear in a Buick gives you the economy of the so-called "gas-saving" top speeds you hear about.

The big thing is, of course, that this is no small car that's setting these economy figures. There are all the room, size, impressiveness, comfort and downright thrilling performance you expect from a Buick.

So it isn't because the needle's out of kilter that it goes down so slowly. It's simply because it's in a FIREBALL Buick.

RISE REBELLION

IT may be too soon to say with assurance that Hitler's strategy is failing and his power is dissolving. Yet there are many signs of trouble piling up for that ambitious autocrat. A recital of some of the more obvious signs may encourage prospective victims.

There is said to be arising in Europe what might be called a war within the war, operating secretly in behalf of oppressed groups and nations. The results are seen in all the countries that Hitler has overrun and annexed. They appear in the form of "civil disobedience" and disobedience that is very uncivil. In Norway, the revolt has been especially evident, with efforts to kill Hitler's representative, Major Quisling, and various subordinate quislings. There have been many assassinations and much stealing of military supplies, so that the Nazis have to guard everything.

The Dutch in Holland are engaged in a strong "passive resistance." The Danes are boycotting Nazi newsreels and other propaganda. The French, even with their apparent acquiescence in Nazi rule, show slowly rising anger, disobedience and violence, and are believed to be storing arms in large quantities. The Czechs and Poles are engaged in various kinds of sabotage.

Greece is the most striking example of outright revolt against the totalitarian system and all it stands for, and her heroic fight is pouring courage into the hearts of oppressed people everywhere.

UNRETURNED BOOKS

THE story of the man in Austin, Tex., who returned a book to the library after keeping it for 40 years, must have stirred a lot of guilty consciences. Also a few wholesome fears. The accumulated fines on that book amounted to $730. Suppose a library, instead of being kindhearted and waiving such a ruinous fine, as was done handsomely in this case, should proceed to collect it by moral suasion or court procedure.

The mere thought is alarming. There must be millions of dollars due on library books in this country and held beyond their allotted time. And there may be millions of people waiting for a chance to read those missing books. And there may be libraries going bankrupt from people virtually confiscating their books instead of keeping them in circulation as they are supposed to be. Then, too, think of all the books borrowed from friends and never returned.

It would be a fine public service, and

Up to a damp morning and much puzzled by the Christmas problems. If I had not become such a sophisticate when I was about ten years old the whole situation would be nothing more than pleasant anticipation. Certainly, I wish Santa existed in fact. What a relief that would be! Turned from that thought to one of firing the furnace and then set down to coffee and the morning prints. Adolf must be figuring ways and means of getting back into the headlines. The British and Greeks appear to have stolen his thunder.

Came a post card from Doc Bales, who is a refugee from our fast approaching cold weather. Doc sent his card from Marathon, Fla., and noted "the local fish house received 19,000 pounds yesterday. Weather fine." Doc goes South each winter to collect shells and always finds something that is new to collectors. He has as many shells named after him as a movie star has cosmetics.

Visited City Hall to note Red Crayne's progress on the rifle range and did form opinion that shooting may possibly be under way there Sunday. Some seventy members now in the club and many more to come. Nothing started here recently has attracted so much attention. Quite a few new guns being bought and other purchases contemplated. Suggest that most members wait until they have had an opportunity to try out the various kinds of target rifles before considering purchase.

Wonder when that barricade is to be removed from East Main Street? Seems to me that it has been there long enough to allow for a major project. See few business men on the streets these days, and all being busy inside. And shoppers are finding that local displays this season surpass any of the past. Know one woman who is fit to be tied. She bought what she regarded as a real bargain in Columbus and two days later found that the same thing could be bought here for much less cash. Seems to me that it is foolish to buy elsewhere at least before inspecting local merchandise and prices.

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

COL. DONOVAN'S GOAL GREECE

WASHINGTON—Inside fact regarding the present mystery trip of Colonel William Donovan to Europe is that his real destination is Greece.

En route, however he will stop in North Africa where he will see his old World War friend, Marshal Weygand, now controlling the large French army in Africa.

If this powerful force took the field on the side of the British, the Italians, already in a precarious position as a result of their defeats in Greece, would be finished. This would release British naval forces for desperately needed convoy work in the Atlantic.

Also it would have repercussions in the Far East, where the Japanese military have been greedily eying the rich Dutch East Indies and Indo-China. With the British supreme in the Mediterranean and their big fleet available for operations elsewhere, Japan would think twice before attempting any new grabs.

WAR FRONT OBSERVER

On the Greek front, Donovan will make a survey similar to that which he made in England last spring. He will observe military operations, confer with Greek and British chiefs, and obtain data on fifth column and other subversive activities.

Also on Donovan's itinerary are Yugoslavia and Turkey. Still undecided is his possible return via the Far East, India, the Dutch East Indies and Indo-China.

In England last spring, Donovan made a thorough survey of invasion defenses, military defenses, military intelligence and the Royal Air Force. He spent a week in the field with the British army and made several flights with the RAF. Various U. S. army, air corps and navy observers are now attached to the British forces as the result of Donovan's trip; also he established close intelligence ties on Axis espionage and fifth column operations.

On his previous British mission, Donovan traveled as the personal representative of Navy Secretary Knox. The only hostile note he encountered in London was from an American—Ambassador Joe Kennedy, who made it plain that he disapproved of the trip.

DIET AND HEALTH

The Causes of Deafness and Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● Theoretically, we can hear either sound waves that impinge on the ear drum and are carried to the nerve of hearing, or when they are conducted by way of the bones of the skull to the nerve of hearing. Practically, in daily life, the second form of hearing is not of importance, although it is brought into play in chronic deafness and forms the basis for the action of several of the best known hearing aids.

For efficient hearing the sound waves must reach the ear drum and it must be elastic enough to vibrate. Its vibrations must be transmitted to the little bones of the middle ear and these must be movable so that their vibration is transmitted to the organ of hearing and the auditory nerve must be intact so that the sensation is transmitted to the brain. In order to keep the little bones of the middle ear pliable there must be an air space in the middle ear that is connected with the outer world so it can contract and expand with the vibrations of the drum; this is preserved by the Eustachian tube which goes from the middle ear to the throat. When this is stopped up, as by adenoids in children, a certain amount of deafness results. The stiffness and partial deafness that you have after an airplane ride are due to the altitude forcing the air out of the middle ear and closure of the Eustachian tube.

A Common Ear Disease

Extensive destruction of the bones of the middle ear and pus formation can occur without deafness. This is the common ear disease of childhood, but does not often result in hearing defect. But when those little bones get fixed it results in the chronic progressive deafness of middle age.

The bones are tiny little ossicles, one shaped exactly like a stirrup, one like a hammer and one like an anvil. In chronic deafness they become fixed to the bones around the ear drum and no longer have the wide range of motion they once had. This results in lack of transmission of sound waves from the ear drum to the nerve. It is preceded by head noises, called "tin-nitus," which are probably due to the movement of the dry bones against the ear drum. This tinny and roaring annoy the victim in the early stages even more than the deafness.

Was Considered Hopeless

This form of deafness was considered almost entirely hopeless up to a few years ago. Hearing aids that depended on switching the conduction from air conduction to bone conduction have been improved somewhat but they are by no means perfect. But within the past five years this form of deafness has been approached from the surgical standpoint and with a considerable amount of success. Several operations are at present performed and it would be tedious to attempt to describe them. Suffice it to say that after following a number of cases for several years, I find a conservative report which states that in 60 per cent of cases there has been marked improvement in hearing. In all cases there is some improvement, and this method of approach to an age-old problem seems to offer some hope for the future.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. W. O.: "Please tell me what you can about epilepsy. Is there a cure for it? What causes it? I have a son 10 years old who has convulsions and I would appreciate it if you would tell me what to do for him."

Answer—The treatment of epilepsy should certainly not be undertaken by mail. It is necessary first to make a diagnosis of the kind of epilepsy present and, second, to regulate a system of life which will keep the patient comfortable. There is no permanent cure for epilepsy but many remedies will reduce the number of convulsions and keep the patient more comfortable than otherwise. Among these are the bromides, luminal, ketogenic diet and dilantin. In most cases, treatment has to be kept up for life.

CHAPTER FORTY EIGHT

"IN FIVE minutes we'll start our show," Vance went on. "I'm going to call on one of our beloved savants, Dr. Hartpence, a noted authority on international politics. On Ken Speed to do his radio routine for us. On Miss Gloria Le Brun, known to you as one of our greatest screen tragediennes. I'm going to give away a secret. Miss Le Brun is a mimic whose delightful performances are tops in—" he fumbled—"in drolery. Will you do it, Gloria? . . . Thanks. . . . And now, Dr. Hartpence, we'd like to hear your views on the European situation today."

The professor stepped to the platform. The hands of the clock pointed to twenty minutes of eleven. Gloria Le Brun, the English wit, the radio comedian, all had done their turns. Vance was beginning to feel anxiety. He thought he had caught the acrid odor of smoke faintly.

He said, "Folks, I think I ought to explain why we are starting still. One of our engines broke down. The repair work is being speeded up and we should be under way shortly." Wyncoop had forbidden him to tell them that the Georgian was coming to them. ("If they know we've radioed for her to intercept us, they'll not believe anything you'd say. Better wait until they can see for themselves.") "Meanwhile our show will go on."

There wasn't much to go on with. There was a rising newspaper columnist, named Jonas, in the crowd. His stuff, which was pretty funny, was known to Vance. He called on him.

As he had hoped, Jonas was amusing, but Vance knew that the dreaded moment was getting close—there was an ominous movement in the crowd, a twisting of necks, a shuffling of feet, an hysterical note in the laughter.

Jonas was running down. Vance thanked him with a bright speech, his voice steeled against anxiety, his eyes seeking Wyncoop in the companionway.

Suddenly his false smile sickened. Kit, her head lifted, was coming through the door. Coming directly to the stage.

To Jonas he pleaded in a whisper, "One more yarn—quick!" He lowered himself from the platform.

"Introduce me. I can hold them," Kit whispered.

"Go away, my dearest, at once! You'll be finished if you get up there," he said, trying to shield her face from the crowd with his shoulders.

A woman rose, a scream on her lips. He leaped to the platform and gave Kit his hand, pulling her up. He said simply, "This star needs no introduction."

A voice from the crowd said loudly, "It's Kitty O'Reilly!"

"Good evening, everybody," she said with her sweet, shy smile. "It IS Kitty O'Reilly. In show business we call the last act the flash. I'm not going to be the flash tonight. YOU are! First, we'll sing my theme song. Then we'll sing anything you want. But I want you all to sing. Remember the story about the man who said he couldn't sing good, but he could sing good and loud? All right, everybody, here we go—

"Just a song at twilight . . . When the lights are low . . ."

Vance slipped through the companionway and walked across the deck to the rail. Back of him he heard voices lifted in Kit's song. He felt sick.

Dimly he was conscious of footsteps hurrying on the deck above him. Then he saw it. A great, white ship steaming toward them.

"Shine on . . . shine on harvest moon . . . for me and my gal."

They were still singing lustily back in the salon.

Kit had done it. The music was muted. There were a few minutes of silence. Then cheers and applause rent the air. Men and women were pouring out of the doors to the deck, sweeping him along with them in their excitement to see the Georgian. The excitement, he realized with that part of him that was not numb, was the excitement of curiosity, not the excitement of fear.

He looked for Kit in the deserted salon. She was not there.

He found her in his sitting room, seated on the lounge where he had found her four nights before.

"I had to do it, Vance," she said simply.

He nodded dumbly. "Poor kid," he said. "It was a sad day when you met up with the likes of me. I guess things are fixed for you now."

"I guess they are," she said cheerfully. She was a funny girl. Any other girl, knowing she'd thrown away a career, would look mighty unhappy. She said, "What were you going to say to me up on deck?"

"You ought to know now, Kit. You don't think I give a darn about myself, do you? Why do you suppose it makes me sick in my heart to know that those people are going to think about you?"

"They'll forget it when we're married," she said complacently.

Vance said, "Come here!" A few minutes later she said, "Remember when you said this was a bad habit to get into?"

"I take it back," he said, kissing the tip of her nose. "I'm going to make it a life-long habit. Speaking of our lives, what are we going to do now?"

"You'll go to law school and become a pillar of the law. I'll stay home and keep house and be the most respectable woman you ever heard of. Oh, darling, don't you see what happened tonight? If you could only believe there's a reason for everything we do in life, you'd believe that it was intended for you to be in radio so that you could—could be an instrument of destiny as you were."

"Do you believe that?" he asked.

Words of Wisdom

We meet with few utterly dull and stupid souls; the sublime and transcendent are still fewer; the generality of mankind stand between these two extremes; the interval is filled with multitudes of ordinary geniuses, but all very useful, and the ornaments and supports of the commonwealth. — Bruyere.

Hints on Etiquette

If you have planned to go somewhere with a friend and another friend wants to go too, you should ask the first friend if he or she minds the third persons going along.

Today's Horoscope

Business prospects of today's birthday children are excellent indeed. They will experience a great deal of domestic happiness, and "happy events." If young they will court and marry. A somewhat erratic temperament will be the lot of this child born on this date. This will be especially true where the affections are con-her, a little awed. Kit was saying that she did when there was a sharp knock at the door.

Vance opened it. "The captain's compliments, sir," the third officer said. "And will you please go to his cabin at once. He would like to see both you and Mrs. Healey."

Kit and Vance exchanged short, worried glances.

The captain said, "I have asked you to come here so that I might thank you for what you have done. I can't tell you what it would have meant to the line, and to me personally, had you not directed events as you did. From the bottom of my heart, sir, to you and your lady, I extend the deepest gratitude of myself and my company."

Vance swallowed and smiled wanly.

"The purser told me of your wishes to keep your identity unknown. I realize how unselfish it was of you both to act as you did under the circumstances."

"Then you knew that we were not married?" Vance said. "But we wish to be, sir. If you could marry us—"

The captain said, "Not married?" He was puzzled; the purser had said . . .

Kit said, "It's all my fault. Vance didn't even know that I was aboard. I followed him on—"

The captain's voice rumbled at her. "What's that? A scandal? We can't have this—"

He took a black book from his desk. Kit's hand sought Vance's.

The captain turned back to them. The black book was open in his hand. "Do you have a ring, young man?"

Vance slipped a ring off his finger.

It was on Kit's hand in an incredibly short time and the captain was shaking Vance's hand and calling her Mrs. Healey. Then he picked up his hat and went to the door.

"Stay here as long as you like," his great voice boomed at them. "But I'm hoping you'll join us below. The occasion calls for a bit of celebration. I shall ask the entire ship's company to join me in a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Healey."

He opened the door then, and, standing on the threshold, he added, "Whom I had the honor of uniting in marriage the night we sailed from New York."

He closed the door gently. Vance looked quickly at his wife. "What did he mean?" he demanded.

"Darling dope!" she said fondly, "the captain has given us back our reputations for a wedding present. If we had been married the night we sailed—as now the world may well believe—no finger of scandal ever can point to us."

"I'll have you know you're talking about my wife," he said sternly. "You'd better smile when you say that."

"How can I smile?" she asked reasonably, a few moments later, "and kiss you at the same time?"

Circleville Teachers Have Splendid Meeting

Dinner, Program Of Interest Enjoyed

One of the outstanding social affairs of the pre-holiday season was the Christmas party of the Circleville teachers Wednesday in the social room of the high school building, when 45 guests were served a turkey dinner at 6:30 p. m.

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree was a feature of the decorations of the room where the tables were arranged in an open square. Red ribbons extended the length of the white covers adding a brilliant touch to the table appointments.

A Yule log decorated with pine cones and evergreen sprays and bearing five large burning red tapers centered the cross table. The end tables had similar center arrangements with single cheery candles, one with three candles being included in the decorations on the piano.

Unique place cards of red stars with tiny silver trees were the interesting favors. Several high school girls served the excellent dinner.

With Ned Stout acting as master of ceremonies, a delightful entertainment was presented, including vocal solos by Miss Mary Katherine Pile; piano solos by Miss Ruth Esther Blum; instrumental music by Delbert Puckett, Clifford Kerns, Robert Kline and Glenn Barnhart; tap dances by Miss Monna Lee Hanley and Miss Beverly Kline; vocal solo, Miss Carolyn Herrmann, and piano solo, Miss Ann Elizabeth Snider. Miss Blum played the piano accompaniments for all numbers excepting the tap dance of Miss Kline for which her mother, Mrs. Frank Kline, was accompanist.

A question and answer quiz, with three of the men and three of the women teachers contesting, was won by the men.

The teachers joined in singing popular songs and Christmas carols at the close of the formal program, with Mrs. Melvin Kiger directing.

Miss Emily D. Yates, a former teacher, Miss Louise Bowsher, secretary to the superintendent of Circleville Schools, Mrs. Claude Kraft, Miss Carrie Johnson and Miss Reba Lee, substitute teachers, were guests at the party.

Miss Alice Roof was general chairman for the successful affair. She was assisted by Miss Mary Walters, Miss Eloise Hilyard, Miss Ethel Stein, Mrs. Ralph Ward and Mrs. Lincoln Mader.

GERMAN PLANES HURL MISSILES ON BIRMINGHAM

London Discloses Attempt To "Coventrize" Big Industrial City

was the chief target of the Germans last night followed a communique issued by the Air and Home Security Ministries which said that enemy attacks on a fairly heavy scale had concentrated on a midlands town.

Some Fires Started

The main German attack, the communique added, started a number of fires, but all were controlled quickly and most were extinguished.

Late reports from all parts of the country indicated the effects of the attack was comparatively slight in comparison with its length.

In the midlands region rescue workers were reported hunting through the debris of "innumerable" workmen's homes for possible victims.

Relatively few bombs were dropped on the London area and damage was exceedingly slight in the capital. Only a few casualties were caused.

It appeared that most of the raiders passed over London on their way to Birmingham.

(In Berlin German authorities said the Luftwaffe had raided important military objectives in the midlands.)

At Birmingham the Nazis used their usual "Coventrizing" tactics, crossing the city in waves every two or three minutes and dropping high incendiaries and then high explosives.

A church, a school, a sports pavilion and a bus were among targets directly hit. Residential property also was damaged heavily, and many persons were trapped in the debris of both houses and shelters.

Several other western midlands towns also reported that bombs had fallen.

First in Over Week

As the Birmingham raid progressed, anti-aircraft fire increased in intensity, forcing the attacking planes to terrific altitudes and spilling their aim at specific objectives. It was the first attack on a provincial English city in more than a week.

Rally Wins For Waterloo Team Over C.A.C. Five

Circleville Outfit Leads Until Last Few Minutes As Best Crowd Of Season Cheers

C.A.C.-Stone's Grill cagers tossed a scare into the invincible Waterloo Wonders, Wednesday evening, and at the same time gave the largest crowd of the season a thrill when they forced the Wonders, comprised of some of the brightest cage stars in Ohio, to win a hard-fought game in the final two minutes of play. The score was 31-28, and the crowd was highly pleased with the performance of the local quintet which might have won with any breaks.

The Circleville crew was ahead almost the entire distance, a first period advantage of 6-4 being scored, with the edge being 16-14 at half-time. As the third period ended the score was 20-18, and both teams were battling.

SHELBY GRIDDERS TO WEAR SUITS OF OHIO STATE

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Dec. 12.—The ghosts of some of Ohio State University's most famous football stars will walk the field of Mississippi Southern College's Faulkner stadium when the Camp Shelby football team meets the Mississippi eleven in a post-season match December 14.

Thirty-six uniforms, many worn by Ohio State football great, were sent to Camp Shelby by the university's athletic association to outfit the Ohio National Guardsmen who will play in Hattiesburg Saturday. The uniforms, 24 with red jerseys for the linemen, 12 with white for the backfield, came as a god-send to the husky Shelby players, who had been trying to stuff themselves into suits donated by Hattiesburg high schools.

For the 180 and 200 pound galloping guardsmen, the high school suits were a bit on the small side; hence the jubilation at Shelby when the slick OSU equipment arrived. With the uniforms were two brand-new footballs, an added gift from the university to the Ohioans in Mississippi.

Final plans for the game promise a gala between-halves period when nine regimental bands from the 37th Division will march before more than 11,000 spectators at the stadium. WCKY, the Cincinnati-Covington outlet of the Columbia Broadcasting System will bring the game to Ohio radios. Frank Lane, Cincinnati, veteran football expert and Western Conference basketball and football official, will referee. Two 20-car trains will shuttle the fans from Shelby to within a few blocks of the stadium at a charge of 24 cents for the round trip.

GRANGE CLAIMS HARMON SHOULD PLAY PRO BALL

By Bill Collins
CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Tom Harmon will play professional football and he's crazy if he doesn't. A pretty fair journeyman ball player, one Harold "Red" Grange who also was known as the "Gallop-in' ghost of the gridiron," is the authority.

"I talked with Harmon a few days ago," Grange said today. "Right now he is tired of football."

"But next spring the boys at Ann Arbor will be called out for spring practice. And Harmon will be out there on the sidelines watching."

"And next fall he'll get the urge to go out and throw the ball around. And then he'll be lost." And anyway, Grange said, Harmon should do the thing he knows how to do best, "and he knows plenty of football."

The Michigan all-American back can make more money playing football than doing anything else, Grange said, and he ought to cash in.

"While he won't get the $25,000 he's asking," Red said, "he might be able to get a two-year contract at $15,000 per season. And my advise to Tom would be 'take it.'"

"There are plenty of sports broadcasters, and few of them are making $15,000 for a three-month season (Harmon has stated he prefers a job as a radio announcer to a pro football career). And Tom doesn't know he could hold down a radio job. But he should know he can hold down a football job on any man's team."

TROPHY FOR BOSTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The Lambert Memorial Trophy, emblematic of eastern football supremacy, as well as considerable praise went back to Boston today for the Boston College gridders. Because they are busy preparing for their Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans with Tennessee, the untied and undefeated Boston gridders could not be on hand last night for the presentation.

TENNESSEE'S ALL-AMERICA GUARD

About This And That In Many Sports

Ye Janitor presents an all-American football team, and what a team it would be: The idea is not original at all, an eastern newspaper presenting it first, but here goes:

And the remainder of Ye Janitor's effort for the day is provided by Woolly Holmes of the Chilli-cothe News-Advertiser who writes concerning Coach Earl Young and his Chilli-cothe Red Devils, foes Friday night of the Circleville Tiger on the Ross County seat court . . .

Speaking of Young he writes: "The perennially pessimistic cage mentor at CHS says that this year's team will have to get along on speed and aggressiveness, as it will be a small squad. Don Edinger and John Hamm are the tallest lads on the team, and will measure in the vicinity of the six foot mark. The other boys are all under six feet."

"Three of the current Red Devils have seen action as varsity players, while three others have never played in a varsity encounter. John Clark, Don Edinger and Joe Fogle are the court veterans of the squad, and it is possible that Fogle will not be able to start the initial game. He has been shelved with a sore heel and has been unable to practice."

"Glen Ater, John Hamm and Chuck Williamson will be experiencing their first varsity competition in Friday's game, if Coach Young carries out his present intentions and starts this trio along with Edinger and Clark. Ater, a sophomore this year, had little or no experience with the Red Devil reserves last year but Williamson and Hamm were members of the reserve squad."

"In an effort to distribute his team's height where it will do most good, Coach Young plans to use Ater at the pivot position and drop Edinger back to a guard where his height will be an asset in grabbing balls off the backboard. Coach Young plans to start Hamm at the other guard and Williamson and Clark at forwards."

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Dec. 12.—If "Jarring John" Kimbrough, Texas A. and M.'s all-American fullback, has agreed to play with the New York Yankees of the American Professional Football League, as reported, he hasn't mentioned it to his brother and room-mate, Jack Kimbrough.

Jack said today his brother had talked by telephone with the Yankee officials and that they had invited "Jarring John" to visit New York, but that the conversation had put "no strings" on John to sign a contract.

The Aggies' ace was drawn by the Chicago Cardinals of the National Pro League in the draft at Washington this week.

The famous beauty, Lillian Russell, was accustomed to eating 14 course dinners. At the height of her popularity she tipped the scales at 165 pounds.

MILLION TO BE PAID TO WATCH BOWL CONTESTS

Many Of Games Rate As Tossups, Say Experts Picking Them

By Pat Robinson
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Advance sales indicate today that some 300,000 football fans will pay close to $1,000,000 to see five bowl games and the East-West Shrine game on New Year's Day.

This comes under the head of big business and, budgets for college sports being what they are, it is not surprising that every graduate manager in the country has his eye on a bowl bid each fall.

The Rose Bowl, of course, is the most lucrative of the lot. It seems certain that at least 90,000 will pay around $300,000 to see Nebraska play Stanford at Pasadena. Each college will get about $100,000 and many a school runs its entire sports program for the year on a smaller sum.

San Franciscans, 60,000 strong, will lay out at least $150,000 for their East-West charity game.

Fordham and Texas Aggies will play to 45,000 and more than $100,000 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The unbeaten behemoths from Boston College and Tennessee will do their stuff in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans and 55,000 will spend at least $125,000 for this one.

The Orange Bowl in Miami will draw a capacity crowd of 40,000 who will be only too glad to pay perhaps $80,000 to see Georgetown clash with Mississippi State.

And out in El Paso's Sun Bowl 15,000 will go for at least $25,000 to watch Temple play Western Reserve.

The Broadway bookies today are offering the following odds on each of these games:

Stanford is 7 to 5 favorite over Nebraska. Texas Aggies are 8 to 5 over Fordham. Boston College and Tennessee are quoted at 4 to 5 and pick 'em. Temple is 7 to 5 over Western Reserve. Georgetown is 6 to 5 over Mississippi State. And the East is 9 to 5 over the West in the Shrine game.

The bookies may not be out of line on these odds but it would not be at all surprising to see the less favored teams win. That they themselves think the games are a toss-up is indicated by the 5 to 1 odds they are offering that you cannot pick three winners in the six games, ties to count against you.

The one sure bet is that the fans are going to see a great football game no matter which bowl they enter.

MAJOR CONTEST TO BE STAGED ON WEST COAST

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—One of this year's most intriguing sports events will be run off at Los Angeles on December 28, when the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League tangle up with a hand-picked all-star team from the rest of the league in the annual charity tussle.

The Bears will be vaguely remembered as the team which blasted the Washington Redskins by 73 to 0 in the championship playoff last Sunday. You may also recall that the Bears previously had lost to Washington and to the Chicago Cardinals during the course of the late lamented pro football season.

Now, the class is asked to ponder the foregoing and give us the answer as to what is going to happen when the Bears meet the stars. Don't overlook that if the score in the coming game is low—regardless of who wins—people will be gossiping as to whether the Bears pulled their punches. If the Bears triumph by a one-sided margin, then people will be saying that the Bears eased off most of last season until they met the Redskins.

We refuse to submit to the notion that the Stars have a chance against these Bears. If this team can blow this one against players who will have had only a week or so of practice together then we will just simply dismiss the class right here and forget the whole thing.

Anyhow we fancy that this game will be something to see, what with the Stars in there belting away to preclude possible humiliation and to look as good as they can in one of their last few showings before next season's payrolls are drawn up by their respective clubs. They will be banging and ripping and tearing—and, presumably, so will the Bears.

PROPOSED LOUIS, GODOY FIGHT MAY BE REFUSED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—On the grounds that Arturo Godoy is not a suitable opponent for World's Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, the proposed Louis-Godoy fight in Los Angeles next spring was opposed today by Jerry Giesler, chairman of the California Athletic Commission.

"It is my private opinion that Godoy is not a suitable opponent for Louis on a championship basis," Giesler said. "I don't think the public should be led to believe Godoy, twice beaten by Louis, is capable of winning the championship."

The athletic chairman stated that if and when the request is made for the bout, the merits of the case will be decided by the state commission.

Now, the class is asked to ponder the foregoing and give us the answer as to what is going to happen when the Bears meet the stars. Don't overlook that if the score in the coming game is low—regardless of who wins—people will be gossiping as to whether the Bears pulled their punches. MASSILLON, TOLEDO SIGN FOR TWO GRID JOUSTS

TOLEDO, Dec. 12.—Massillon and Toledo Waite High Schools, two of the state's strongest scholastic football elevens, today signed contracts for games in 1941 and 1942, it was announced by Jack Mollenkopf, Waite coach. Massillon defeated Waite, 28-0, this season.

Roosevelt laughed, picked up the boy-girl in his arms. "Are you really a girl?" he teased. "You make a fine looking boy with that haircut."

"Oh, I'm a girl," she replied, "but I'll let you call me a boy if you want to. It's worth it to be hugged by the President."

RUBBER FLYING SUIT

A new type of rubber suit for aviators, to keep them warm while flying six miles high in the air, is being tested by the Air Corps at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

How important this is in battle was learned when the French, in order to offset the great cold of high altitudes—20 to 30 below—heated the interior of their fighting planes. This proved a mistake, since the interior heat frosted the windshields and prevented clear vision. Thus, French aviators, instead of fighting it out with the German invaders, had to turn tail and fly home.

The American remedy is to provide the fliers with equipment that will keep them warm without heating the plane. The Germans used a silk underwear arrangement which was wired for warmth from the plane's generator.

The proposed rubber equipment includes suit, gloves, and boots. Though rubber ordinarily is an insulator, it can be made to transmit electricity and throw off heat in the process. This is the principle of the self-heating suit now undergoing tests at Dayton.

WHAT BRITONS READ

WPA's library service made an interesting discovery in a survey to ascertain what the people of war-strafed Britain are reading these days.

One fact uncovered was that the long, dreary hours of blackout with no outside recreation, have greatly revived interest in household arts and handicraft. Books on these subjects are at a premium. Also the classics are in heavy demand, with Shakespeare, Chaucer, Dickens and Kipling as the favorites.

But the one subject in which Britons are most interested is the author of their affliction. The most widely-read book in England, according to the WPA survey, is Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

COUNCIL VOTES CONTINUATION OF PRESENT RELIEF POLICIES

CITY UNABLE TO ESTABLISH OWN ADMINISTRATION

Numerous Figures Presented Aldermen By Two Investigators

LIBRARIAN AT MEETING

Officials Looking Ahead In Figuring How To Pay Its Way

Openly admitting that the city is "broke," that it can not pay the county the $9,000 relief debt it will owe January 1, and that any city relief setup would have to be operated entirely on a credit basis, City Council Wednesday night decided to continue under the present system of city-county relief administration.

Councilmen agreed that whenever the city is financially able to help carry even a part of its own relief burden, it will do so, but until then city relief will have to be carried by the county commissioners.

The decision came after Frank Lynch, chairman of the relief investigating committee, and Joe Adkins, solicitor, presented to councilmen figures for city relief administration under the present plan of operation compared with estimated figures under entire city operation.

Here are the figures presented: By the end of 1940 the city will owe the county $9,000 for relief. On February 1, 1941, the city will receive $8,000 in utility taxes, which it may turn over in advance to the commissioners, making a net indebtedness of $1,000 by the end of 1940. Relief cost for the city during 1941 will be $21,000, if the 1941 budget is the same as that of 1940, both councilmen and Welfare Director Delos Marcy agree, which added to the $1,000 owed in 1940 makes an gross indebtedness of $22,000 by the end of 1941. In 1941 the city will receive beer, malt and admissions taxes at a rate of $500 a month, making a total of $6,000 for the year, which added to the $8,000 advance on the utility tax it will receive on February 1, 1942, would make a total of $14,000.

This figure subtracted from the $22,000 gross indebtedness leaves the city owing the county about $8,000 by the end of 1941.

Records, Files Needed

For the city to set up its own relief machine, councilmen maintain, a complete set of city records and files would have to be provided and a city case worker employed. With these facilities provided through the county relief office, and already available to the city, an individual city setup would mean only a duplication of services and added expense.

The $8,000 debt to the county is based on two assumptions, councilmen pointed out: 1. That the city relief load in 1941 will be the same as in 1940. Director Marcy maintains it will be less, since during 1940 WPA in the city was forced to shut down because of bad weather during January, February and March, thereby increasing the city relief burden; and 2. That state aid to counties will be 40 percent of the total load, as was the case this year. Solicitor Adkins told councilmen that an effort was now being made in the state legislature to increase the state's share to 50 percent. Should both these factors be carried out in 1941, the city would still owe the county no less than $5,000, the solicitor maintained.

Librarian Present

With one of the "drastic cuts" which Council has threatened to take in its 1941 budget directed at the library truck, Daniel Pfoutz, librarian, appeared at the meeting and presented a financial report of the library's operating cost.

Since the intangible tax law, one of whose sections pertains to state aid to libraries, was passed in 1934, the library has operated almost entirely from the proceeds of the intangible tax, Mr. Pfoutz said. State contributions last year amounted to about $750. About two-thirds of the intangible taxes of the county are collected in Circleville.

Operation costs for the library run about $700 a month, he pointed out.

CITY AND COUNTY SCHOOLS TO AID SALE OF SEALS

City and county schools will cooperate with the 1940 Christmas Seal campaign by declaring Friday to be School Health Day, County health league authorities announced Thursday, after both Frank Fischer, superintendent of city schools, and George D. McDowell, county superintendent, announced their willingness to cooperate with the program.

Bangles will be sold for one cent or more to the school children, but no seals will be sold.

"It gives us singular satisfaction to know that we can be sure of the interest of children and their teachers, J. O. Eagleson of the Pickaway County Public Health League, said in commenting on the announcement.

"The greatest hope for success in the educational movement against tuberculosis lies in the growing children of today. These children have opportunities of knowing facts about the prevention and cure of tuberculosis that science had not uncovered a generation ago.

"The sale of Christmas Seals for thirty-four years has made possible a year-round educational campaign against the disease that has entered practically every classroom in the country."
